DISCOVERY OF LAND

General Greely considered the important point about them to be that they often showed parallel lines of ice formation, the result of compressed snowfalls of several years. Such structural features, he had learned, are not found on bergs coming from known Arctic lands, although common in the Antarctic regions. The general reasoned that such bergs could only be soned that such bergs could only be formed on level land of considerable extent, and that, as they did not come from Spitzbergen, Greenland or Grin-nell Land, they must have come from an unknown land. He expressed this conclusion. In a published article in 1886, and in a book written by him in 1906, sald that "within the main LONG AN INVITING FIELD North Polar basin, there is possibly an extensive ice-covered land to the Peary Is Optimistic.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Philadelphia, Pa., October 12.—Rear-Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, is optimistic regarding recent dispatches from Alaska, which heralded the finding of an immense continent north of Siberia. He bases his credence of the report upon Russian discovery of a continent 500 miles north of Asia, if true, would be the last great discovery of land. They pronounced it the most important discovery within the Arctic Circle in the last century.

bases his credence of the report upon the theory formed a long time ago by Dr. Harris, the tidal expert of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, who has declared that the tides of the Arctic Ocean tend to show that last century. there is a large tract of land near the North Pole.

But Admiral Peary doubts the statement that the continent is as large as Greenland, as the dispatches from Alaska would imply.

Possession in Name of Czar.

St. Michael, Alaska, October 12.—The Russian flagship Talmyr and its conof the society. It was known that the Russian government for years had pursued a survey in the Siberian Ocean, but no word had reached them of regular exploring expeditions into the frozen North. The expanse north of Canada, Alaska and Siberia has jong been regarded as an inviting field for investigation, however, and the Canadian government sent Viljhalmar Stefansson into the area last summer on a three-year expedition.

Russian flagship Talmyr and its consort, the Waygatch, which constituted the Russian polar expedition under Commander Wilkitzky, which left Viadivostok, June 10, of this year, reached St. Michael stormbound, October 9, and brought news of the discovery north of Siberia. in latitude 31 north, longitude 104 east, of a new uninhabited mountainous land, possibly a continent.

The expedition landed with difficulty, ind doubt that an important discovery had been made.

The general said to-day that, on December 18, 1894, the Fram, in which Dr. Naneen drifted in the Arctic resigns, was in latitude $2.50, longitude 104, Just a little morth of where the southern extremity of the land reported discovered is said to be.

Naneen Saw No Land.

Dr. Naneen's party saw no land, and so confident was he that none existed in the vicinity of his vessel that he district possibly may have been active recently, he said. Many high peaks, be stated, were discernible inland from the vessels, and what seemed to have said such the size of Greenland could exist between the drift path of the Fram and Cape Chelyuskin, the north-cramost point of Asia.

The through the discovered is sold to be actively. Check north of the Arctic Circle north of Alaska and Eastern Siberia, as distinguished from Western Siberia, where the Russians are said to have discovered land, has been the theory of scientists for years. Dr. Holand Harris, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, years ago put forth the so-called Harris theory that a large area of undiscovered land was located within the circle. His contention was based on tidal observation by point explorers, including Rear.

Bracing Fall Weather Promised This Week

Washington, October 12 .- Bracing fall weather, with generally fair skies, is promised the greater part of the country for the coming week by the Weather Bureau.

"Temperatures will average near or below normal, and precipitation will be generally light and local, except in the North Pacific States weekly bulletin says. "The next disturbance of importance to cross the country will appear in the Far West Tuesday or Wednesday, cross the Middle West about Thursday and the Eastern States Friday or Saturday. This disturbance will be attended by rains and be preceded by a general rise in temperature. It will be followed by considerably colder weather, which will make its appearance in the Northwest about Wednesday. There are no indica-tions at present of a disturbance in the West Indies."

engineers are staking out a plot on a mountain for strippings at the Enterprise Colliery as a method of getting at a fire which has been raging for nine years, and has entailed a loss of several million dollars.

The fire broke out in the slope workings, and, despite repeated efforts of officials, who have had the assistance and advice of some of the most able mining men in the region, the flames were never conquered. The mines were flooded through boreholes immediately after the fire started, but the flames worked their way above the water

Recently the water from the working began to break through into the Alaska Colliery's lower workings, and the Reading Coal and Iron Company, which leases to Enterprise, ordered that the flooding of the workings be stopped in order to protect the Alaska. The order was complied with, and since then mining men have been devising plans to get at the Enterprise fire. Following a conference, it was decided to strip the surface from over the veins afire. STILL ROOTS AT 97.

New York, October 13—Surrounded by eight children forty grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren, Mrs. Mary Bernert celebrated her ninety-seventh birthday at her home in Flushing. Mrs. Bernert is a baseball fan, and was greatly disappointed when she learned that the Giants lost the world's championship. She has followed the game from its start, and probably is the oldest woman baseball rooter. She recalled stars of the sixties as she told a reporter to-night that Bender, of the Athletics, is one of the best ball players who ever donned a uniform.

Mrs. Bernert was born in France, and came to this country when fourteen years old. She was married seventy years ago in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Grand Street, Manhattan. Her husband, Michael, died forty years ago.
